A MATTER OF ECONOMY.

If it is true that what we save is just as valuable as what we earn, we of the city of Paw Paw are on the right track. Thrift means economical management, and if we can save the wear and tear on our sidewalks by walking down the middle of the street we call that a penny earned.

Of course the walks are covered with ice and we cannot, by the most careful attention to business, stand up for more than the length of a block, but that is not the reason we take to the middle of the street. It was good enough for Coxe and it is good enough for us.
